DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. Applicant's response filed 16 September 2003 has been entered and overcomes the objections to the drawings cited in the Examiner's previous office action mailed 19 June 2003.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

- (b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.
- 3. Claims 1-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Sano (JP 200002216).
- 4. The Examiner notes that US Patent No. 6472765 is being used as an English translation of the Japanese reference.
- 5. Regarding independent claim 1, Figure 1 of Sano shows a light-permeable fluorescent cover (10) comprising a fluorescent material (7). The Examiner notes that the functional recitations of the fluorescent material have not been given patentable weight because an apparatus must be distinguished from the prior art in terms of structure rather than function. Apparatus claims cover what a device is, not what a device does (MPEP § 2114 [R-1]).
- 6. Regarding claims 2-4 and 7, the functional recitations have not been given patentable weight because of the reasons given above.

7. Regarding claims 5-6, Sano discloses the fluorescent material of the fluorescent cover including fluorescent lanthanoid aluminates activated by manganese (col. 5, In. 32-44).

- 8. Regarding claim 8, Sano discloses the fluorescent cover comprising a base material formed of one or more resins selected from the group consisting of silicon, polyester, acrylic acid, epoxy, urethane, nylon, polyamide, polyimide, vinyl chloride, polycarbonate, polyethylene, Teflon, polystyrene, polypropylene and polyolefin (col. 4, ln. 45-49).
- 9. Regarding claim 9, Figure 1 of Sano shows the cover having a varied thickness along emission intensity distribution of the light-emitting diode.
- 10. Regarding claim 10, Figure 1 of Sano shows the cover being attached on and in close and clinging contact to the light-emitting diode.
- 11. Regarding claim 11, the cover shown in Figure 1 of Sano is thermally shrinkable (col. 2, In. 41-44).
- 12. Regarding claim 12, Sano discloses a light permeable adhesive agent adhering the cover to the light-emitting diode (col. 5, ln. 52-53).
- 13. Regarding claim 13, the method of forming the device is not germane to the issue of patentability of the device itself. Therefore, the limitation of the method of forming the cover has not been given patentable weight.
- 14. Regarding claim 14, Sano discloses the fluorescent material including manganese (col. 5, ln. 32-44).

Response to Arguments

15. Applicant's arguments filed 16 September 2003 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

16. In response to applicant's argument that the applied reference (Sano) does not teach a fluorescent material capable of converting wavelength of a single light into two different wavelengths, the Examiner respectfully disagrees. To defend this position, applicant points out that Figure 4 of the instant application shows lanthanoid aluminate selected as the fluorescent material having this capability. As set forth at column 5, lines 32-37 of Sano, Sano discloses a basic material for the fluorescent substance including aluminates of rare earth elements, in addition to other elements. The Examiner notes that the rare earth elements includes the lanthanoid series of the periodic table. Thus, the Examiner concludes that Sano does indeed teach a fluorescent material capable of converting wavelength of a single light into two different wavelengths.

Conclusion

- 17. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).
- 18. A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
